

Join us to launch the NHS Growing Occupational Health and Wellbeing Together strategy

NHS England and our partners are delighted to invite you to the launch of our Growing Occupational Health and Wellbeing (OHWB) Together strategy on Monday 20th June 2022 as part of Occupational Health awareness week celebrations.

What is Growing OHWB Together?

Growing OHWB Together is a new national strategy designed to grow our OHWB services, professionals, and practice in the NHS over the next five years. Supporting our NHS People Plan and People Promise of 'we are safe and healthy', it sets out a united vision and areas for action that we can achieve together. It has been co-designed by a variety of people, from our multi-professional OHWB community, senior healthcare leaders, national experts and our healthcare managers and employees as the service users of OHWB. You can find out more about the development journey of Growing OHWB here.

About the event

This event is designed to launch Growing OHWB Together and will include:

- An overview of the journey taken to develop the Growing OHWB Together strategy, our joint vision, improvement drivers, and areas for collaborative action.
- Explore how you can use this strategy as a lever for change to grow OHWB in your local areas.
- Hear from inspirational speakers, sharing their practice and how they have grown OHWB in their organisations and across their integrated care systems.
- Highlight the supportive programme of work underpinning the strategy, the resources, and opportunities to engage in this collaborative work during year 1 of implementation.

Who should attend?

This event is for all NHS people leading OHWB at organisational, integrated care systems, and national level, including OHWB professionals, senior leaders, HROD directors, and wellbeing guardians.

When and where?
